

Employee handbook

Welcome

Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance.

Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service.

Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that.

Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days.

Working hours

Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office.

Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices.

On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager.

On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave.

Leave

A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day.

Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager.

The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day.

Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave.

Expenses

Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave.

Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed.

Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client.

The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect.

Conduct

Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Sick absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line.

Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service.

Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Sick absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed.

Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client.

Data and devices

Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager.

Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager.

On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service.

On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly.

Leaving

Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Overtime is paid only where it has been agreed in advance by a manager. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office.

Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. On leaving, all equipment and access cards must be returned on the final working day. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Suspected phishing emails should be reported with the button in the mail client.

A fit note is needed for absences longer than seven calendar days. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Travel is booked through the approved agency, and first class travel is not reimbursed. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day. Annual leave is twenty-five days plus bank holidays, rising by one day for each two years of service.

Expenses must be claimed within three months, with a receipt for every item over five pounds. The notice period is one month in the first year of employment and three months after that. Leave should be requested through the HR system at least two weeks in advance. Personal data about colleagues or customers must never be copied to personal devices. Parents are entitled to enhanced pay during the first twenty-six weeks of leave. Everyone is expected to treat colleagues, customers and suppliers with respect. Company laptops must be encrypted and locked when left unattended, even in the office. Concerns about conduct can be raised with a manager, with HR or through the confidential line. Core hours are ten until four, and the rest of the working day can be arranged flexibly. Sickness absence must be reported to your manager before ten on the first day.

Appendix: people to contact

Name	Role	Email	Telephone	NI number
Jane Doe	HR director	jane.doe@harbour.example	020 7946 0100	AB123456C
Samuel Okafor	Payroll	samuel.okafor@harbour.example	020 7946 0101	CE123456D
Hannah Lewis	Benefits	hannah.lewis@harbour.example	020 7946 0102	JG103759A
Marek Nowak	IT service desk	marek.nowak@harbour.example	020 7946 0103	KM482019B
Aisha Khan	Occupational health	aisha.khan@harbour.example	020 7946 0104	PR624173C

Payroll queries: payroll@harbour.example. Employer PAYE reference 123/AB45678.